

CARDINAL

1960

STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

THE

PLATTSBURGH
NEW YORK

DEDICATION

"Let each become all he is capable of being." Behind this motto lies the key to the future and the realization of a dream. Before us stands a world of reality—a world which in years to come is ours to mold. We would use our educational opportunities here at Plattsburgh toward developing our minds to the utmost so that we may attain a greater understanding of ourselves and others.

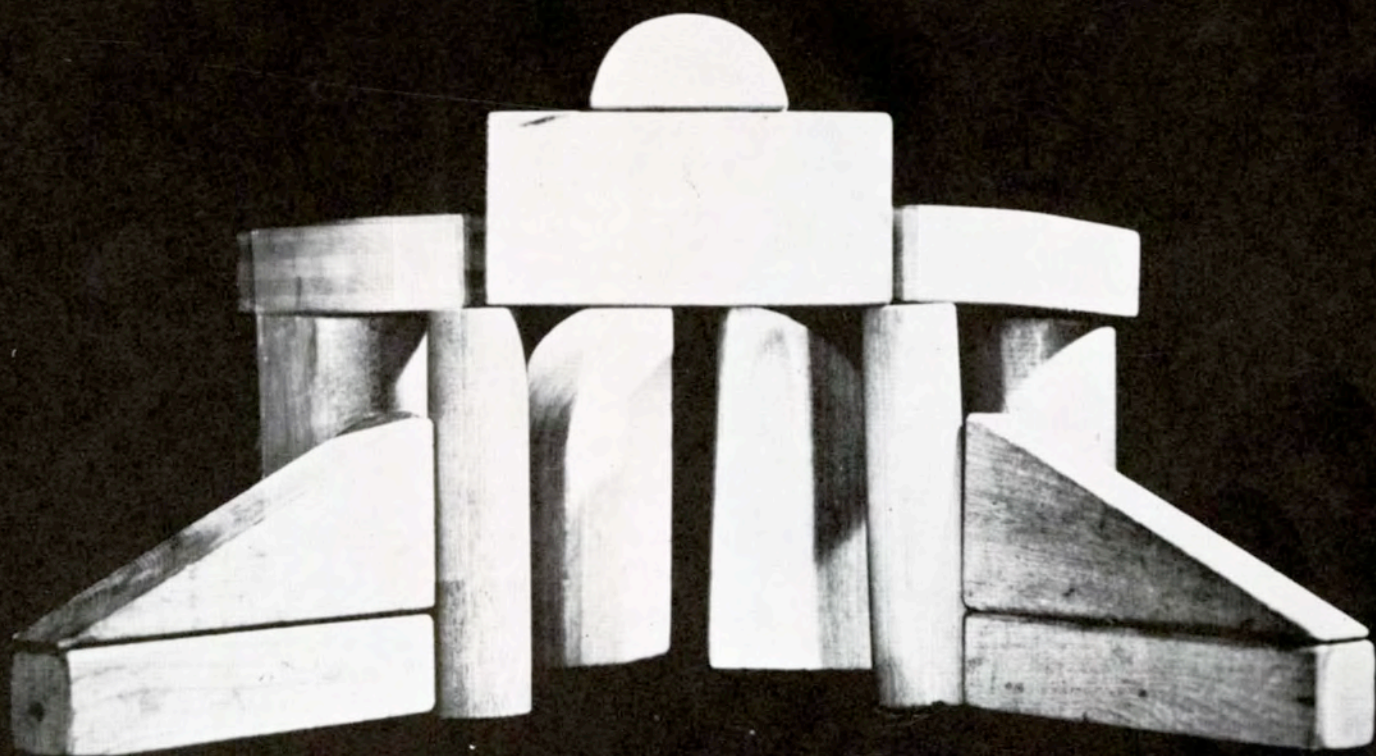

As we step over the threshold into the future, let us ever be aware that only through the open mind can we guide others toward the realization of their ideals.

In keeping with these goals, we dedicate this—the 1960 Cardinal—to the individual and his ideals.

CAMPUS

Hawkins Hall

Hawkins Hall, the core of academic and social activities, is a familiar site to everyone. Here one finds the administrative offices, library, classrooms, auditorium, gym, campus school, faculty offices and the ever-busy cafeteria.

As the familiar clock at the main entrance ticks away each minute, it reminds us that there is work to be done and so little time to do it.

Break time in the recreational library.

What do you hear from the best of circles?

Study time in the occupational library.

Ward Hall

Herein lies the center of Home Economics, Science, and art activity, characterized by well-kept, expensively equipped labs. From all corners come strange smells and yells for assistance which converge to create an atmosphere of busy experimentation. Here, too, are contained several faculty offices, the kindergarten, the "pit," and one of the art galleries.

From whence comes their inspiration?

Knowledge through experimentation.

It's no fun if you can't make a mess.

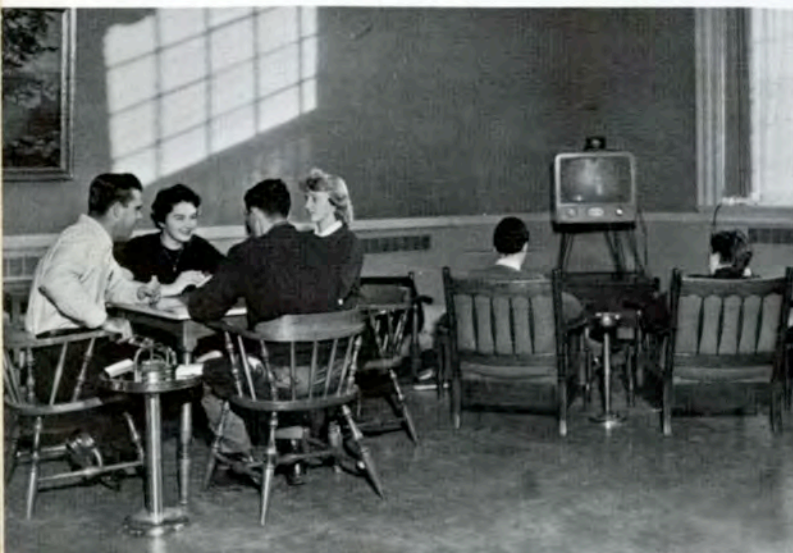

Macdonough Hall

Snack bar, lounges, T.V., game, music and study rooms beckon, and the college union buzzes as students gather in large and small groups for activities of all kinds—from cramming for exams to just relaxing and enjoying one another's company. Behind the private doors, 250 girls learn to live together in the confusion and closeness inevitably associated with dorm life.

A yen for coffee and conversation draws students to the snack bar.

An afternoon of relaxation.

That we may become cultured.

Harrington Hall

Now an indispensable part of the college campus, Harrington Hall has become home to 200 co-eds, who make ample use of its modern facilities. The residents are proud indeed of the beautiful walnut walls, modern lounges, and fireplaces which characterize the dorm.

Cramming 201.

Home Management House

In this attractive building the Senior Home Economic students put their knowledge to practical use. Each girl enjoys six weeks of actual experience in managing a home. The opportunity it provides for learning and sharing together is indeed rewarding.

Looking Ahead

A new dining hall, and room for all.

Spacious living, dining and studying facilities will be available to the students as construction progresses. The expansion program includes a residence hall, dining hall, and library. The buildings are of contemporary design and will have modern furnishings. Completion is in sight during the spring months.

Our second new dorm within three years.

There'll be some changes made.

The new library—a dream come true.

Metropolitan Hospital

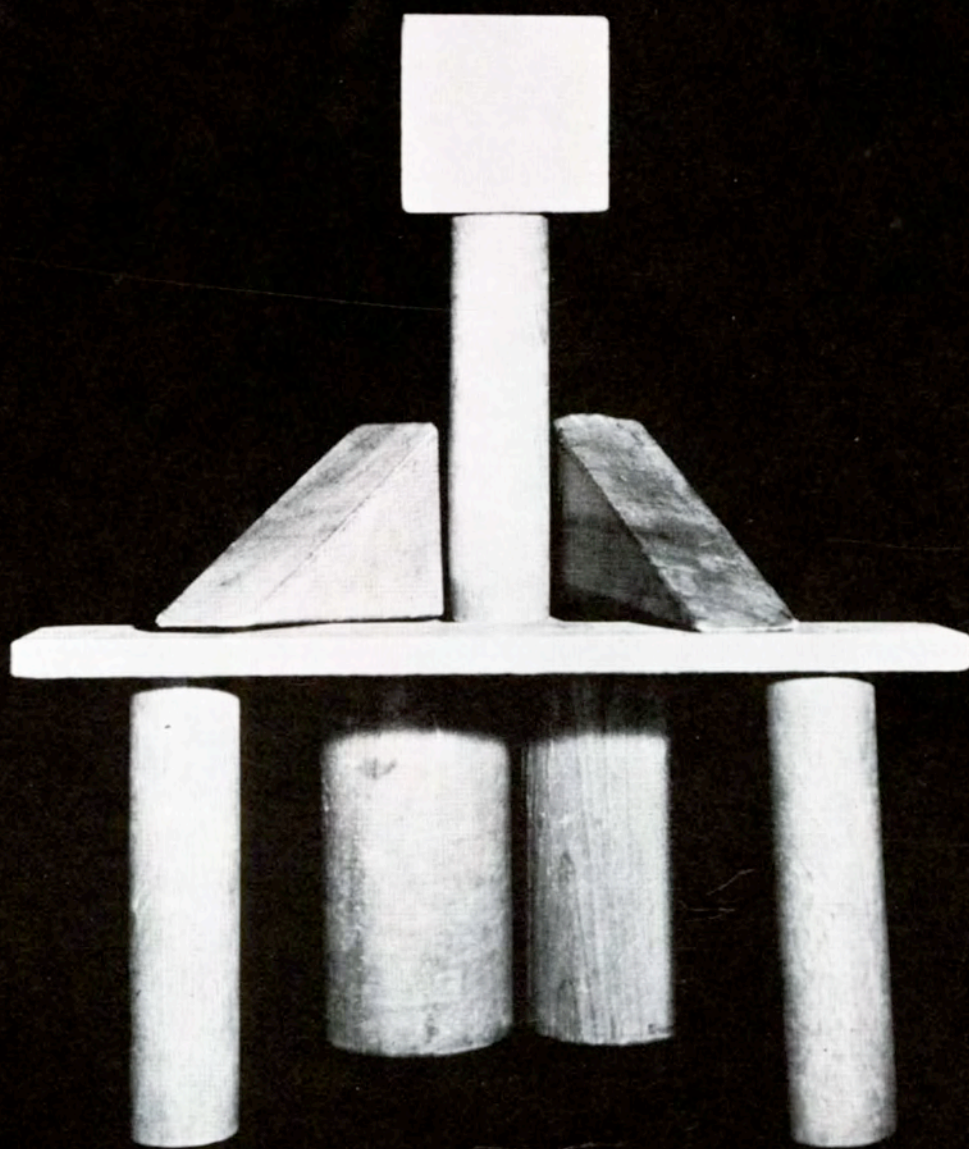

Key to your heart.

It is here that the nurses spend two years of their college life. Comforting and caring for the ill is their primary task. Metropolitan Hospital and Central Nurses Residence are the centers of activity as the arts of nursing are mastered. Recreation is not forgotten as the girls fall into the busy pattern of the New York City rush.

Soup's on.

FACULTY

President

Dr. George Angell

"Let each become all he is capable of being" embodies some of America's most cherished concepts of human life. It re-affirms our faith that each person has talent; that society has a clear responsibility to help each member to discover his talents; and that everyone deserves the opportunity and encouragement to develop those talents and to use them in the service of his fellowman. In essence, it is the responsibility of students and faculty to preserve, foster and enhance the dignity of our fellowman. Teaching more than any other profession is dedicated to helping "each become all he is capable of being." I am indeed grateful that the 1960 Cardinal has caught and preserved the spirit of this great University's motto.

Dr. Redcay

Dean of the College, Dr. Redcay is responsible for policies concerning faculty and campus curriculum. Ever interested in college activities, he maintains direct contact with the students through teaching various classes and acting as treasurer of the main student governing body.

An enthusiastic basketball fan and ardent advocate of jazz, Dean Redcay enjoys being with people at work or at play.

Dr. Tuttle

Associate Dean of the College, Dr. Tuttle also has the never-ending task of co-ordinating summer sessions and extension programs. He fervently devotes his time to developing an interesting graduate program, which always turns out to be the "greatest." The many long distance phone calls, so characteristic of Dr. Tuttle, result in bringing to the graduates famous personalities in the education field.

Deans of Students

With the knowledge that they will be met with a ready smile and an eagerness to help, students flock to the office of the Deans of Students. Always happy to give assistance in any way possible, Dean Flynt and Dean Lewis can be counted on to exhibit an unusual depth

It was a new and wonderful world we entered when we took our places as freshmen. New faces, new friends, beanies, Psych 101, homesickness, dorm life . . . we played practical jokes, we laughed, we cried, we worked as we had never worked before, developing our personalities, widening our experiences, improving our minds.

We lived through it all; we enjoyed most of it; best of all, we gained from it.

At this, the close of our Junior year, we look back at all those things for which we worked so hard and which have become such an important part of us.

Freshman initiation and the dance, "Showboat", started us off to an active college life. Class day, as we cast off our beanies, we bid a temporary farewell to our nurses and looked with eager anticipation toward the oncoming college years.

With pride we took our place as Sophomores. "Lost Lagoon" captured our enthusiasm; lesson plans and participations in the campus school turned us into coffee drinkers as we worked far into the night. The Frosh-Soph picnic ended our second year, and as last we were JUNIORS.

Papers, projects, Cardinal, Junior Week committees. Work! Work! Work! Would it ever end? But as Junior Week and the prom became a reality, we realized our work was not in vain.

Now with confidence we view the doorway to the future, which is but a few short steps away.

A touch of romance still lingers as the music of Tommy Dorsey's Band blends in with the fading memories of Junior Prom.

In Memoriam

MARY-ELIZABETH TIMMONS
Northport, Long Island
Nurse-Teacher

Liz left us during the first quarter of our Junior year, yet she remains with us in our thoughts and our hearts.

We dedicated this book to the individual and the fulfillment of ideals through the development of an open mind and an understanding of self and others. Our first reaction was to think that Liz had been deprived of the opportunity to realize these goals. But who is to say? She was a delight to all who knew her, always full of fun, always understanding and sensitive to the needs of others. Perhaps she has achieved our goals far more fully than any of us ever will, for she left us with an open mind, before the harshness and uncertainty of life could take their toll.

Mary-Elizabeth Timmons, you have been a wonderful friend. We shall never forget you.

SENIOR CLASS

*"So many worlds, so much to do
So little done, such things to be."*

Tennyson

As the echoing strains of "Cinerama '60" fade into the past, we have a world before us to conquer. The challenge it offers is ours alone. To acquire knowledge and experience that is to be passed on to others has been our task. The door opens wide as we take the final step over the threshold to prove ourselves as individuals and as teachers.

The royal couple beam with pleasure as they take their places at the head of the class of '60 and prepare to reign over their Junior Week.

ATHLETICS

Athletic Board

J. Potter, K. Pavlak, J. Fuller, S. Rankin, T. Taylor.

The Athletic Board is primarily a policy-making body that is concerned with the inter-collegiate and intramural athletics and physical education program of the college. The Board is made up of student and faculty representatives. Its recommendations go to the House of Delegates, faculty, and administration.

Twirlers

With a larger group than ever before, the Cardinal Twirlers entertained us all during the half time break in the home basketball games. Their popular routines, the Can Can and Rodeo, are well known to the Cardinal rooters and we will never forget the Winter Weekend skit with a guest appearance of Frosty the Snowman.

B. George, M. Fiske, M. Yerry, S. Gillan, G. Storm, J. Moran, B. J. Dayton.

Enthusiasm overflowed this year for our successful basketball team. The Cheerleaders were ever present, sporting their new white uniforms and many new routines. D.K.D. Fraternity helped the cheerleaders with their entertainment before the games and during the half-time, which contributed even more to game spirit.

Row 1: B. Munson, B. Burdo, J. McKillup. Row 2: M. A. Beauvais, J. Le Blanc, C. Cochrane, N. Newell.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Jr. Varsity Cheerleaders

L. Heisler, E. Sattler, B. McDougal, E. Tully, A. Quickenton, J. Raines, L. Winslow.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders also showed remarkable spirit this year. They faithfully supported their team through wins and losses.

Soccer

The 1959 Plattsburgh State Soccer Team was a veteran club and had hopes of an exceptionally good season. Only two spots had been vacated by graduation and these spots were competently filled by a transfer student who had become eligible after sitting out his required year of ineligibility and a second stringer who had improved enough to fill his position.

After two successive wins over Potsdam and Oneonta, the Cardinal booters ran into a stubborn Norwich University team and were held to a double overtime tie. The Norwich game took its toll in injuries, and when the team took the field against a highly respected Oswego State team, it proved to be no match for the Central New York Staters. Following the Oswego game, the well trained soccer machine of Middlebury College moved into town and just squeezed by Plattsburgh 2 to 1. In a trip to Albany the Cardinals were upset by a spirited Albany State squad, but bounced back to shut out Lemoyne 2 to 0 and crush Potsdam in the mud, rain, and cold 5 to 1.

Thus, the 1959 Cardinal Soccer Team didn't live up to expectations, but none the less they finished a respectable fourth in the New York State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

The team is looking forward to a successful 1960 season with such returning veterans as Jerry LaVigne, selected as the team's most valuable player, Jack Potter, All-Conference goalie, Bruce Bourgeois, and Paul Wight, second team All-Conference players.

A bit of team work.

J.V. Basketball

The Cardinal yearlings started neck in neck with the varsity, sweeping their first four games.

The loss of Doug Anson, Don Nephew and Dick Laurein to the varsity weakened the team considerably and they didn't seem to be able to get rolling again.

The Junior Varsity Basketball team gives the men who participate the experience they will need to make the transition from high school basketball to college ball. As the men move from the J.V. team up to the varsity it isn't looked on as a loss to the J.V.'s but as a gain to the Varsity team. Coach Arcarese did a fine job this season with the team and we congratulate them all.

The 1959-60 Cardinal basketball season was full of surprises for everyone. At the outset of the season the Plattsburch State team was picked to have a fair season with nothing exceptional in the way of height or experience to work with.

With a burst of speed, furnished by Potter, McGovern, and Malan and the rebounding of Florin and Fessette, the Plattsburch Cardinals put five straight wins on the records. After a disappointing loss to Roberts Wesleyan College they bounced back to capture two more games before being dropped by a taller and more experienced Oswego State team, 64-62. They then sprinted off to another win streak of five games and after dropping a close one to Oneonta, swept the regular season's final game from powerful Brockport State, 85-74. Thus, we closed what most had thought would be a mediocre season with a respectable 13 won 3 lost record.

The Redbirds were seated third in the State University of New York Tournament at Cortland and opened their three-game set there with a 85-65 win over Buffalo State. Friday night at Cortland showed Oswego nipping Plattsburch 78-76, but the final score was by no means a loss of face as Plattsburch was heralded by all for their valiant try and high spirit. In the final game, to decide third place in the tournament, an injury-riddled Cardinal squad was defeated again, this time by Albany State, and they had to settle for fourth place in the final tournament standings. Team Captain, Jack Potter, was named to the All Tournament first team for the third straight year and Ron McGovern was named to the second team.

Probably the biggest reason for the success of the team was the well balanced scoring that found five men in the double figures, ranging from a 10 point per game average to a 16.1 point average per game over the season's play.

Looking ahead to next season raised the hopes of all as only three men, Ron McGovern, Bill Stewart, and Ralph Smith, will be lost through graduation. Although the loss of these men will undoubtedly be felt, the foundation for a strong squad is left and we wish Coach Jastrab and his team all the luck in the world in the 60-61 season.

First String: C. Fessette, R. McGovern, J. Potter, P. Malan, R. Florin, Coach Joe Jastrab.

As always, the Plattsburgh spring weather took its toll during practice session and games.

The overall team record was poor although there were bright spots such as victories over arch rivals, Albany State, Potsdam State and St. Michael's College of Vermont.

Bob Bruno, Jack Potter and John McCarthy led the team at bat, all clearing the .300 mark.

The club's fielding problems seemed to appear at the most inopportune times, leading to 23 unearned runs scored by the opposition.

The team was made up mostly of juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, which means that things should be looking up in the future.

Tennis

During its second season in intercollegiate competition, the tennis team experienced a rather disappointing season of no wins and nine losses. Although they failed to win a match, some of the team members did win individual games.

Coach Doc Wiley is hoping that the 1960 season will bring even more wins to the team as a whole and put Plattsburgh in the spotlight as far as intercollegiate tennis goes.

Returning lettermen—Ted Jamison, Ralph Smith, Doug Johnson, Fred Miers and Jerry Gottlieb—will form the nucleus of the 1960 tennis team, with high hopes of a good turn out from the freshman class. We all wish the team the best of luck and are looking forward to a winning season with a lot of support from the student body.

Men's Intramural Board

The Intramural Program here at S.U.C.E.P. endeavors to make it possible for everyone to participate actively. A variety of activities is offered in the hope that each individual may, through his or her favorite sport, find a profitable release from the strains of academic life.

In the fall, the bumps and bruises of touch football and field hockey capture the attention of the male population, while indoors the girl's volleyball teams are being organized by classes in an effort to provide a sound basis for competitive spirit.

During the winter months, there are extensive programs in both men's and women's basketball. Tumbling and bowling are the winter co-ed activities, with many hours of advanced mathematics required to figure out the handicaps for the bowling league.

Springtime calls the students outdoors to the tennis courts and softball diamonds. Providing the rains don't fall simultaneously with the scheduled games or matches, intramural events continue undisturbed throughout the season.

Pre-rush parties and "Polynesian Paradise" started the AD's off to a year of fun and activity. Taking part in the Interfraternity Show provided a new experience for them.

The impressive Pledge Banquet and formal initiation led second semester activities. May brought the highly successful Mother-Daughter Weekend and the never-to-be-forgotten weekend at Twin Valleys.

The Alpha Kappa Phi Sorority started a happy and successful year with the traditional Parents Weekend. Enthusiasm was high as the girls joined other fraternal organizations in producing the Interfrat Show, a first on this campus. The Ago Christmas Party ushered in the holiday season.

Rushing, pledge banquet, Interfrat Weekend, and the Senior Dessert Hour provided a busy second semester calendar for the Ago's.

10c for a worthy cause.

The DK's moved into their new house in September and started plans for their annual Halloween Party for the Children's Home. A novel way of raising money was seen on campus as the Dekes sponsored a boat ride across the campus pond at 10c per trip. The main project of the year for the DK's was setting up an Alumni Association. Smokers and skits have been prevalent throughout the year. Everyone wondered what the Dekes were going to do next at the basketball games.

In addition, the fraternity organized a bowling team, which turned out to be quite successful.

That we might better know the meaning of democracy and, consequently, be better citizens, we are given the opportunity to actually govern ourselves as a college community. It is both the privilege and the duty of each organization on campus to send a representative to the main governing body, the House of Delegates, where, in cooperation with faculty advisors, student problems are discussed and decisions made.

Acting as an advisory and executive body for the House is the Student Council which reviews matters to be considered and draws up the agenda for House meetings. The College Union Board also works with the House and recommends policies for the College Union. The Student Guidance Committee concentrates on maintaining good general conduct of the students and neat appearance of the campus. The Student Curriculum Committee considers problems relating to curriculum and offers suggestions for the improvement thereof. The Student Social Committee plans and guides all student social functions.

The Northern Light, a bi-monthly newspaper, has been published as a means of communicating college activities to the student body and faculty since 1942.

This year the Northern Light established a new policy of covering campus activities, and a sufficient process of evaluating college life. This innovation has created a great deal of enthusiasm on our campus because of the cross section of interests which the newspaper was concerned with throughout the year.

The Northern Light has contributed much to the college and the campus in offering opportunity for those students who were interested in journalism. It also acted as a center for adverse opinions by the student body, and as a means for the student body to express these opinions openly.

Handbook Committee

Seated: J. Coppedge, D. Phillips, J. Carvill. Standing: A. Williams, G. Childs, A. Longshore.

This committee compiles the college handbook, a vital reference for students and faculty. The handbook contains general information about college policy, organizations and the calendar of events for the college year.

Literary Club

Student skill in the art of creative writing gains recognition in Et Cetera, the magazine edited and published by the Literary Club. This year a bigger and better magazine with room for the use of a greater variety of writing styles than has previously been possible was published.

Seated: J. Carvill, Garry McGivney, L. Greuling, J. Knobloch, M. Klein. Standing: W. Gonyea, D. Bresee.

Cardinal Staff

The meeting starts officially at 9:00 a.m. Alarm clocks are set for 9:15 a.m. and by 9:30 a.m. the staff starts straggling in for breakfast, accompanied by Fran's screams of "Where is everybody?" Ellie's "Well, people . . .," gets the meeting started at 10:00 a.m. with the enthusiasm indicated by Anne Marie's "Oh, crap!"

By 10:15 a.m., Dicky-doo's "Come on, group . . . my head!" reminds us that it is time for a coffee break (or tomato juice, depending on one's individual needs). As the meeting resumes, Judy arrives for the first time (with no comment), while Don, her co-editor, wants to know, "Has anybody seen the India Ink?" Cries of amazement come forth from all as Marci, our efficient business editor, confidently remarks, "Hey, gang, we've got $1,300 left over!" Alas! She added wrong and normalcy is restored with Bunny's eternal "Fran, I've got a problem!" Bernie's insistent yell of "Doesn't anybody know anything about these people?!" is drowned out by Maryann's happier comment of "We've got another page all laid out." Nina is even less successful in receiving an answer to her "When are you going to schedule the music pictures?" for Joe usually manages to distract everyone's attention with his inevitable "In all sincerity, Fran . . ."

At 11:15 a.m., after a "long" morning of back-breaking labor, Mac breaks up the meeting by asking, "Who's going to stand in the lunch line?"

Music Council

C. Boissey, R. Tyrell, K. Keenan, D. Atchley, O. Frankos, G. Baker, J. Duffany, B. McConnell, Dr. Yokum, T. Sipala, C. Searles.

The Music Council is comprised of elected members from each of our music groups here on campus. This council helps to decide the activities that the music department will take part in during the year.

The different music groups help to give each individual an opportunity to develop his abilities while adding to the social life of the college.

College Chorale

In September there were tryouts for this choral group. Sighs and smiles were in evidence when the members' names were posted. Then the work began. The group had many opportunities to sing, so rehearsals every week were a must. They sang at high school assemblies, contributed to the Christmas spirit by singing at the Vesper Sing, and sang at other important functions. A most active year was climaxed with singing at the college graduation exercises.

Girls' Ensemble

This small organization is made up of the girls of the college who are interested in spending an extra night a week learning different songs to be sung at college functions. These girls took part in the Christmas Vesper sing and also added their talents to the music concert this past spring.

Row 1: H. Eldrett, M. Eldrett, B. McConnell, G. Bridges. Row 2: S. Enteles, D. Atchley, J. Preston, J. Fitzpatrick, R. Steiger.

The college band was organized in the fall under the direction of Mr. Miller. Both classical and popular music were played to help increase the musical ability of each member. At different times of the year the band went on tours, and the year was brought to an end at class day exercises when the band played special selections for each class.

"Antigone"

Students interested in theater and dramatics find a form of expression through the Footlights Club. This year the organization has staged a series of productions such as Antigone and Under Milkwood. Mr. Paul Gray, the faculty advisor, also organized a series of successful workshops so that students can specialize in their field of interest.

Modern Dance

These girls, under the direction of Dr. Alice Backus, work out original dance routines to ballads, spirituals, folk music and jazz rhythms. This year the group presented a variety program featuring jazz numbers.

Eastern States

Each year, the faculty and members of the House of Delegates elect ten student leaders to represent Plattsburgh at the Eastern States Association Of Professional Schools for Teachers held in New York City.

Mutual problems and vital issues facing present day education are discussed. The sharing of ideas ties strong bonds of friendship among the colleges and universities represented.

NYSTA

The annual NYSTA House of Delegates Assembly was held last November in Rochester. The local chapter of SEANYS sent several student representatives who had the opportunity to witness teachers in action. It is at this conference that the delegate body discusses educational problems, presents changes and additions to the NYSTA constitution and draws up recommendations which later may be presented to the state legislative assembly. All these affect teachers as individuals and as members of a profession.

Winter Weekend

"No stuffing the ballot box, Perk."

"Hey Boo-Boo."

Clonian First Place Sculpture.

The annual winter weekend, held February 19-21, proved to be a highly successful event. Basketball games, jazz concert, cocktail hour and snowshoe races were the featured events. The crowning of Queen Jeanne Desidoro and King Joe Jennings highlighted the semi-formal dance, "Evening in the Alps." Once again the Clonian Sorority received first prize for their snow sculpture, Donald and Daisy Duck. A Stereophonic Jazz Concert held Sunday afternoon provided a novel touch to the weekend.
